Angela Marie Hutchinson is a former Anthony J. Cebrun Journalism Center intern sponsored by the Tennessee Tribune Newspaper and joins a long list of successful Cebrun graduates from around the country.

Angela was recently selected to attend the Regional Final Callbacks for "The Apprentice," Season 4 in San Jose, CA. If selected, there is one more round of interviews, then the final candidates are chosen. Hopefully, Angela will be selected as she would like to redeem Black women and provide an accurate representation of an intelligent, strong, yet sophisticated Black woman.

Angela has a B.S.E. in Industrial and Operations Engineering from the University of Michigan and a certificate in Cross-Media Journalism from USC. She was an editor for Noir Magazine in Chicago before moving to Southern California.

She has worked for MGM, Warner Bros. Television, and the Grammys (National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences). Angela was a Miss Teen Illinois Finalist in 1998 and recipient of the 2004 International Poet of Merit Award, sponsored by Poetry.com. Currently, Angela is pursuing her writing career; she has written 3 feature films and 2 children's picture books.

Angela also works as a fundraising consultant, where she helps entertainment non-profit organizations secure donations and sponsorships for silent auctions at galas, golf tournaments and festivals. Angela resides in Sherman Oaks, California with her husband Arthur.
